

ABSTRACT

Several embodiments of a method for treating pain associated with liquid nitrogen therapy and an assembly are disclosed. The method comprises comprising the steps of administering liquid nitrogen to an epidermal lesion; and applying a topical anesthetic to the epidermal lesion during or after a thaw cycle of liquid nitrogen to achieve anesthesia.